

About Us

Our Adopt-A-Raptor program is run by the Ida Cason Callaway Foundation, a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization dedicated to the environmental mission of conservation, education, and land stewardship. Since its debut in 2000, the program has helped educate well over 5 million visitors about man's impact on raptors and other forms of wildlife.

Education

“Inspiring students of all ages to care about
wildlife preservation”

Birds of Prey offers a variety of learning experiences for the young & the young at heart. Our live raptor programs educate, entertain, and engage students daily through our flighted presentations.

Support

Adopting a resident raptor is a fun way to support our Birds of Prey program. Our Adopt-A-Raptor initiative enables you to help support the feeding, training, housing, husbandry, and medical care for one of our resident raptors. These symbolic adoptions are an exciting way for your family, business, organization, or class to participate in wildlife stewardship while creating a personal connection with one of nature's unique creatures. You can adopt any of our 17 resident raptors.
