Hogansville has been called one of the prettiest small towns in Georgia, and our pride shows. Pride is on display throughout our pretty town, from the many historic homes dating back to the mid-1800's to our quaint Main Street shops. Friendly merchants with a love of history offer antiques, vintage lighting and hardware, primitive furniture, old tools, industrial salvage, authentic signs, bottles, pottery, consignment clothing, used books and locally roasted coffee.

Victoria Belle is a full service event venue offering several outdoor and indoor ceremony and reception sites. The elegant circa 1897 Mansion and rustic chic Vintage White Barn are located on beautifully manicured grounds accented with winding brick pathways that lead to the Garden Gazebo paired with fountains and flowers. A highlight of the estate is the rock waterfall with a shimmering blue pond which sets the stage for the barn, veranda, and patio bar. The vineyard offers picturesque views from the barn windows. Let your forever begin here – Victoria Belle.

A walking trail features the Hogansville Water Tower, a poured concrete water storage facility built in 1916 for the local John Hines cannery, which also served the City's first water system.

Our outdoor amphitheater was built with locally quarried granite in 1939 as a National Youth Administration project. Today, the amphitheater is used for concerts, movies, and other local events.

Come for a day of shopping, and enjoy lunch or dinner at one of Hogansville's collection of home-grown restaurants. You'll see why we are known as the City of Friendly People.
